RATION BOOK 1,2 OPEN TO LEAVERS

Persons leaving the Center soon were asked to make applications for ration books immediately by J. F. Rains, assistant Project director. Ration Book 1 (sugar, coffee, shoes) and Ration Book 2 (canned foods, meats, butter, lard) will be given on the day before departure.

Persons desiring to buy shoes must apply at ad building 2 for Stamp 17, which can be had about a week after application.

The price list and samples are available at the office.

Both F & K Yarn company and the food brokerage have agreed to make ten per cent refunds to the Rohwer Co-op and later allocated to each member-patron as patronage refunds, as in the case of the Montgomery Ward refunds.

All sales receipts should be kept in order to receive refunds later. Patrons will save money order fees and stamp charges. The Co-op mail order department will settle any claims for damages, said Toshio Tomishige, publicity manager of the Rohwer Co-op.

GOVERNMENT JOBS OPEN TO EVACUEE

According to a Scripps Howard Newspaper Alliance article in the "Pacific Citizen," the Civil Service commission has agreed to a WRA plan for putting Americans of Japanese ancestry into government civil service jobs.

It was reported that tentative arrangements provide both civil service and FBI examinations, employment only in areas approved by military authorities and assignment to work of a non-confidential nature.

WRA officials expect several thousand citizens of Japanese ancestry in relocation centers to qualify.

CALIF. MACHINERY NEEDED

With California crop planting at hand and the food production prospects so acute that a special session of the Legislature is scheduled today to consider relief, two new moves were made yesterday, according to the "San Francisco Chronicle," to thaw frozen, Japanese-owned farm machinery, so California planters can get the benefit.

The first move was a public appeal by the California State Chamber of Commerce to all persons who may know of the location of any Japanese-owned farm machinery, equipment or motor vehicles.

The other was a wire to the Secretary of Agriculture Wickard by Attorney General Robert W. Kenny to designate an agency which can requisition such machinery if and when it is located.

In the face of the unwillingness of the Japanese to sell their machinery, the WRA is powerless to proceed further because its jurisdiction does not extend to requisitioning, which is the only remaining course of action open.

Condition was described by spokesmen for several organizations, in constant and close touch with agricultural shortages, as "serious" and "approaching the critical."

A WRA spokesman said that the agency's first task after locating Japanese-owned mobile machinery is to find out who owns it, then ask if the owner is willing to sell. If he is not, there is nothing more the WRA can do.

Attorney General Kenny sent the following wire to Secretary of Agriculture Wickard: "As up to now no (Continued on page 4)

FIFTH ARTICLE ON EVACUEE PROPERTY OFFICE RELEASED

This article is the fifth in the series concerning the services of the Evacuee Property office to Center residents.

As soon as the evacuee owner requests action on his property, services as prompt as possible will be rendered through the Evacuee Property office, according to Russell T. Robinson, chief of that office.

These requests will be made at the relocation centers or to the San Francisco office and will be turned over to the field supervisors working in the territory nearest to the location of the property.

While it will be the general rule of the Evacuee Property office, Robinson pointed out, to take no action without authorization by the owner, emergency cases may come up where this will be necessary. If a supervisor finds it necessary to take action to protect the owner of the goods from further loss, he is authorized to do so without consulting the owner. He will do only the minimum that is necessary. For instance, he may find that a building where evacuee property is stored, has been broken into and goods have been stolen. He will then repair the break and secure a new lock for the door.

In such emergency situations the supervisor will immediately notify the owner of the conditions and what steps he has taken. He will also recommend what further steps he thinks it advisable to take to afford reasonable protection.

SECOND SHIPMENT OF WORLD ALMANACS HERE

The second order of World Almanacs has arrived and is ready for claimants, announced Dr. Nat R. Griswold, night school head, today. Each copy will cost 68 cents.

JEROME VISITORS

Ten community activities leaders from the Jerome project visited the Center Tuesday and conferred with the local staff on CA problems and programs.

They were G. F. Castlebury, director of CA; Sam Seno, head of entertainment division; Henry Murayama, clubs and organizations;

Shig Tokumoto and Bessie Nakashima, men and women's athletics; Tom Okano, district scout commissioner; Mr. and Mrs. Al Tsukamoto, indoor activities and women's clubs and organizations; Seizo Hanashiro, reporter for the Denson Tribune; and Mary Sato, secretary of CA.

All cooperative societies are based on four primary principles founded by the Rochdale Pioneers. They are as follows:

1. "A consumers' cooperative society shall be democratically controlled."

The democratic principle is not found in a profit business. A cooperative enterprise is the only business where a member gets only one vote no matter how many shares he owns.

2. "There shall be open membership. No persons shall be denied membership in a consumers' cooperative unless it be known that they wish to join for the purpose of doing harm to the organization."

No one can be barred from the organization because of race, class, creed or color. No matter what a person believes or who he is, he shares one fact with all men--he is a consumer who desires more things to eat, wear and wear out.

The cooperative believes that "the more who share with us, the greater the benefits for all to share."

3. "Money invested in a cooperative society, if it receives interest shall receive a fixed percentage which shall not be more than the prevailing current rate."

The rate of profit which a shareholder receives in an ordinary profit business is neither fixed nor definite. It varies with the profits of any given year. Cooperatives pay their capital a fair rate of interest and nothing more.

4. "If a cooperative society makes a net profit, that profit shall be returned to the consumers who patronize the society on the basis of the amount of purchases."

Any net profit made by a cooperative is considered as an overcharge to the people who traded with them and is returned to them on the basis of the amount of goods purchased.

GAEL CAGERS TO PLAY ROYAL DUKES SUNDAY BOJANGLES PLAY A-JAYS

In the top game of the week-end and one which will be watched with considerable interest is the Los Angeles Royal Dukes - Stockton Gaels struggle.

Riding on a crest of a five-game winning streak, the undefeated Gaels will attempt to make it six straight at the expense of the Southerners.

The Royal Dukes have yet to come out of their mid-season slump, which hit a new low last Sunday in the disastrous Bojangle duel and tomorrow may see them hitting on all five cylinders again.

By dumping the Gaels the Dukes can turn the race into a three-way tie between Lodi, Bojangles and Gaels. The Bojangles should take the A-Jays today while Lodi is enjoying a bye this week end.

--oCo--

Tule Lake, with the conclusion of its "A" league, came out with an all-star selection. Chosen were the following former Northern California stand-outs: Johnny Kashiwabara of Placer, San Francisco Miks' Mas Hara; Sacramento Miks' Tak Tsutsui and Kenji Nosokawa, and Yoshi Matsubara of the Sacramento Wakabas.

Walking off with Tule's "A" league championship were the Sacramento Miks, former Northern California Valley conference titleholder.

--oCo--

Kiyoshi Nakama, America's number one nisei athlete, made sports' headlines again. This time the sensational Ohio State university swimming star was pictured in the tabloids of the New York Daily News with University of Michigan's Harry Holliday at the Big Ten swimming meet in Evanston, Ill.

Nakama, whose home is in Hawaii, set a new conference 220-yard free style record. His next big meet will be the National Collegiate Swimming championship today at Columbus, Ohio, after which he is expected to travel to New York for the AAU championships.

In today's cage headliner, the Cards will tangle with the Green Horns and the A-Jays will attempt to upset the Bojangles on Court 2 at 2 and 3 p.m., respectively.

The Bojangles' struggle with the A-Jays should create the most interest as the latter will try to unseat their opponent from their high berth in the loop standing.

Tomorrow the Gaels will fight to protect their undefeated status when they meet the Royal Dukes at 3:30 p.m.

The Gaels have been riding high so far with five straight wins, but they will meet the National league murderers' row beginning tomorrow and the strain is bound to tell on them. They might safely pass the Dukes but cannot hope to finish the season undefeated.

In the preliminary, the Vandals should outpoint the Smiths in what has all indications of a rough and tumble affair.

Horse Shoe Championship

Opening round competition will get underway tomorrow in the first All-Center Horseshoe team championship tournament with eight teams entered, and finals slated for Sunday, April 11.

The elimination schedule for tomorrow is as follows:

Blk 16-A vs Blk 15
Blk 1 vs Blk 32
Blk 38 vs Blk 20-17
Blk 16-B vs Blk 4

ADULT EDUCATION

What should young persons do when they seriously disagree with the views of their parents?

Does the institution of marriage today differ from that of one's parents? What kind of boys do girls prefer? What kind of girls do boys prefer?

Should young people marry now or wait? How long a courtship is desirable? Should a young person confine his interest to "one" only?

On the strength of many requests from various young people in the community, a class will be opened, as a part of the night school program, to discuss problems like those above. Residents may enroll on Monday and Tuesday.

Questions and pertinent problems of Center-wide interest will be used as the bases for weekly discussions under the leadership of qualified individuals, according to Dr. Nat R. Griswold, superintendent of adult education.

Excellent classes, embracing creative arts, language and literature, science and mathematics, and social studies will again be offered to interested adult students.

Statistics on educational interests in the Center reveal these remarkable figures:

1600 were enrolled in adult school last term.

Despite rainy weather in March and February, 90 per cent attendance in night school was maintained.

35 per cent of the Center residents are in some type of educational courses.
